

JAMBORELLA JOURNAL

SUNDAY 10TH JANUARY, 1993

ISSUE NINE

A Wet ending to a Wonderful Week.

Last night's closing ceremony reflected all the friendship that we have experienced at Jamborella Five.

The crowd gathered and the programme commenced, firstly with the breaking of the international flags which had not been previously broken at the camp. Then it was onto the items, presented by the international contingents and our own talent quest finalists.

As a representative from Fiji explained the national dress she was wearing to the crowd, the rain started to fall. In true spirit, the programme continued with a little assistance from our Equipment team who applied a canvas floor to the stage. The

The Jamborella Journal and camp staff wish you a safe trip home and all the best in your Guiding/Scouting Life. We look forward to seeing you again somewhere, sometime.

Indian Contingent did a dance and so did the Tuvalu and Kiribati group. Some of the others sang songs from their countries. The finalists of the talent quest presented great items, including a song from Unit 7 about the people in the camp, done in the army marching song style. So, with the lowering of the International Flags, Scout and Guide Flag and finally the Australian Flag, Jamborella Five was officially closed.

Thank you very much, Thank you very very very much!

This is the final edition of Jamborella Journal. I hope that you have enjoyed reading each daily issue and I want to thank you all for your contributions over the past week. They have been fantastic.

The Jamborella Five council, staff and leaders would like to thank the following for their contribution to Jamborella Five:

Mars Confectionery
Manchester Unity
Lanier
Salvation Army
Princes Laundry
CIG
Regal Chemicals
Faulding Pharmaceuticals
Smith and Nephew Pharmaceuticals

CAMP CAPERS

Yesterday afternoon at around 12 o'clock, J5 Police apprehended two well known camp criminals, Michael "Chariot" Booth and Peter "Jam Cat" Billings. Both were handcuffed to Officers Rosser and Merrilless and taken down to Five Ways for a Public Car Washing. Result: one clean police car and several wet police officers and onlookers.

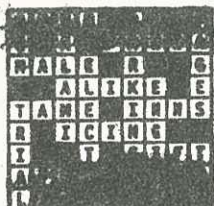

Last night at the Staff thank you party held in B.P. Hut, several "stolen" items were returned to their owners. Armed with a large garbage bag, Princess Broomstick produced Jam Cat, Cassie (and baby) and of course the Dragon Lady's dragon. But, there was still the mystery of the BAC Flag. Sgt. Ian Hopley then produced the flag which he claims police found in the back of Guide One, driven by our beloved Camp Chief. Was it just another set up? I guess we will never know. With all stolen items returned to their rightful owners, the party continued.

Did you know that the Jam Cats eat Curried Egg sandwiches every day for lunch? Guess we now know what their vehicle runs on.

On Friday night, the Jaffas went on "Coffee Patrol". Armed with whistles and marching straight, they entered many campsites and received coffee and cake.

Guide House put on a special candle light dinner for diners last night. Place lovingly on each table was a jug of water. Swimming in the jug of water were some of the fish from the police station pond. These fish will be donated to the Britannia Park fish pond once camp is completed.

POLICE BEAT

A large scale manhunt is on for 2 unknown offenders, believed to be Venturers who were caught in the act of wrapping the police car in toilet paper. An early arrest is expected.

For sale: Numerous pictures/cut outs/posters of Elle MacPherson. Apply J5 Police Station.

The camp chief Alma Brand is under investigation by the Major Crime Squad for theft of the Abseiling Flag. Although found in possession of the flag, we are still wondering how she climbed the flag pole.

But SERIOUSLY from all the J5 Police Scouters, many thanks to all at J5 for their good humour and companionship during the camp which was incident free. All the mock arrests were in fun as were the Public Car Washings. See you next time.

Sgt. Ian Hopley.
(Thanks Ian for you contribution to the Journal).

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

GOOD THOUGHTS FOR THE DAY

A Guide should have these 5 values which should be put into practice even if she is a Ranger, Leader, Jaffa or Venturer.

- G - Graceful
- U - Unity
- I - Intergration
- D - Disciplined
- E - Earnest

Discipline - It makes man good of one
Honest - It makes man better of money
Truthful - It makes man best of all.
